ELEPHANT BUTTE DAM TO BE DEDICATED OCT. 14, 1916

When the personal representative of President Wilson touches the golden key which will start the water of the Rio Grande flowing through the spillways of the great Elephant Butte dam on October 14, he will "bring in" 200,000 acres of fertile lands in the chain of valleys in New Mexico, Texas and Old Mexico. The first meeting of the 23rd International Irrigation congress will be held at the dam dedication, October 14, followed by sessions in El Paso, October 16, 17 and 18.

The Elephant Butte dam is a mass of concrete and steel thrown across the Rio Grande on the desert of New Mexico at the point where a great rock, formed like the head and body of a mastodon elephant, seems to drink from the Rio Grande. This giant impounding dam has formed the largest irrigation reservoir in the world. More than 40 miles in length and 6 miles in width, the lake stores the melted snows of the Colorado mountains and these life-giving waters are allowed to flow through spillways of the dam when the land needs moisture for the crop growing season, thus causing the desert below to blossom and bear fruitage.

The dedication of the Elephant Butte dam on October 14, will be an event of world-wide importance in the irrigation field. Above all, it will be a perpetual monument to the International Irrigations Congress, which has been conducting a great empire-building campaign for the past twenty-five years.
